For the proposed house plan. The trees to be removed which are subject to town regulations are "X" in blue.

Should all be removed they will never survive the construction. The root system would be compromised. They are trees that are already struggling due to the amount of salt water. They drink from being so close to a main road. My recommendation is removal and replant.

The remaining trees that will be within 20 feet of the new development should also be removed the amount of damage from the construction equipment driving on the route system will compromise them more than half of them are already dead and the other half should be removed they can be hazard to the potential house I also recommend replanting when the development is near completion

This is only a assessment by a certified arborist. This is not the estimate to remove the trees.
